Bethel Man Becomes Qualified Submariner

Stanley R. Walker, engineer, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald A. Walker of Route 1, Bethel, Maine, receives Silver Dolphins, the emblem of a qualified submariner while serving aboard the submarine Spikfish at Key West, Fla.

Capt. Frederick J. Harfing, Commander of the Submarine Squadron 12 at Key West made the presentation June 20.

Silver Dolphins are insignia worn only by those enlisted personnel qualified in submarines. In order to qualify each man must have served at least six months on board a submarine and have completed an extensive training program involving submarine systems and operating procedures.

He then is examined by the leading petty officers and commissioned officers on board before receiving his Dolphins.

Before entering the Navy in September 1956, Walker graduated from Gould Academy.

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGERS OFFICE

Excise tax payments on motor vehicles for the first six months of 1959 amount to $15,048.80. This is $941.69 more than for the same period in 1958, but $189.19 less than was collected in 1957.

The so-called ten day notice was sent June 19th to all persons who owed the town on their 1958 real estate taxes. After the ten days has expired the tax collector has another ten days in which to file the tax liens with the Registry of Deeds covering property on which the taxes still remain unpaid.

Two bids were received on the Town Lockup and lot in response to the ad in the Bethel Citizen. Norman and June Greig submitted a bid of $151.00, and Gould Academy $176.00. At the meeting of the Board of Selectmen on June 25th a decision on accepting either bid was deferred until a later date.

Several property owners at West Bethel Village have contacted municipal officers as to what can be done to improve the water supply for the village. The system that has furnished several houses for a number of years has failed to operate, presumably due to the deteriorated condition of the old pipe. Investigation is currently being made as to whether it would be feasible to rebuild the present system or obtain a new supply by drilling a well.

Sincerely,
Harold L. Bean

CHESTER R. KNOWLES

Chester R. Knowles of Bethel died Monday in a Portland hospital, where he had been a patient a few hours.

He was born in Bartlett, N. H., June 1, 1889, the son of the late Samuel and Annie Daly Knowles, and moved to South Portland in infancy. He attended South Portland High School.

Mr. Knowles was a limited partner in Hayden, Stone & Co., New York investment house, with which he had been connected more than 60 years.

Mr. Knowles was a Mason and a member of Woodford's Congregational Church.

He leaves his widow, the former Leonora Hodgdon; a son, Chester R. Knowles, Jr., Falmouth Foreside; two daughters, Mrs. William H. Merrill of Portland, and Mrs. John E. Moore, of Norwood, Mass.; a sister, Mrs. Ella Lovejoy, Pittsfield, Mass.; a brother, Ira Knowles, San Gabriel, Calif.; nine grandchildren.

The funeral was held this Thursday afternoon in Woodford's Congregational Church. Burial will be in Pine Grove Cemetery, Falmouth.

LOCAL DRIVERS

LESS THAN PERFECT

It has been a long time since the Citizen has noted the driving habits of local folks, which seem to be no better or worse than those of people elsewhere. There are some Bethel people who note the practices of their fellows which, while they may not conflict with rules set forth by law, often result in inconvenience and confusion for others.

This irritating group, which is far from confined to the younger set, stops at the convenience of either side of the center of the highway and sometimes drives in that fashion—parks backed toward the curb, taking adjacent sidewalk space—and show a frequent disregard of stop signs. This observation is not made with the hope of improving the habits mentioned, but will serve to express the opinion of some of the old conservatives.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Barron Freeman and sons, Bucky and James, have returned to Bethel, N. Y., after a week's visit with Mrs. R. B. Tibbetts.

Sam T. Smith, Lions International Councillor is in New York City for the week attending the 42nd Annual International Convention of Lions. Some 35,000 delegates and their families from 92 free countries of the world are expected to be in attendance during the week.

CLAYTON F. FOSSETT

The community was greatly saddened last Friday when it was learned that Clayton F. Fossett, for thirty-four years a member of the Gould Academy faculty, passed away in Damariscotta, where he has made his home since his retirement in 1958.

Mr. Fossett was born April 23, 1901, in Pemaquid. He was educated at Gorham State Teachers College and later attended Bates College from which he received the Bachelor of Arts Degree. He received further training at summer sessions at Bates, University of New Hampshire, and Columbia University.

Mr. Fossett came to Gould Academy in September 1922, after a year as a member of the faculty of Stephens High School, Rumford. After a leave of two years during which time he completed his requirements for a Baccalaureate Degree at Bates, he returned to Gould in September 1927, where he remained and served loyally and faithfully until his retirement in 1958. His modesty, friendliness, and understanding endeared him to many hundreds of students who benefited from their associations with him over many years. While at Gould, he coached many of the varsity sports and in later years was always an interested spectator at all games with which he was formerly actively associated. He witnessed Gould's growth from a student body of 125 to the present enrollment of over 300.

At Commencement 1958, Dr. Sidney W. Davidson, chairman of the Board of Trustees, honored Mr. Fossett for his long service to the Academy by presenting to him in the name of the Trustees a beautiful Paul Revere Silver Bowl. The citation which Dr. Davidson delivered and which contributed to this special occasion read in part as follows: "Mr. Fossett's modesty is one of his charms and is demonstrated by the fact that no one, as far as I am aware, has ever even his Phi Beta Kappa Key awarded in 1927 or heard from him about it. He possesses an unlimited reservoir of patience—the teacher's greatest virtue—and is willing to spend hours with his students outside the classroom."

Mr. Fossett was a charter member of the Bethel Lions Club and a member of the Chamber of Commerce. He is survived by his widow, the former Gertrude French, Damariscotta; one son, Ensign Paul Fossett, USNR; a brother, Robert Fossett, and his stepmother, Mrs. Della Fossett, both of Pemaquid. Services were held at 2 p. m. last Sunday at the Strong Funeral Home, and burial was in the Harrington Cemetery, Pemaquid.

CHADBOURNE HAS 9,800 ACRES IN TREE FARM

Robert M. True, S. D. Warren Co., Cumberland Mills, chairman of the Maine Tree Farm Committee, says that many of the state's 77,000 private woodland owners are already practicing high level forestry but have not taken the time to apply for Tree Farm status. He urged landowners wishing to enroll in the program to contact any forester, the Tree Farm Committee or Joel W. Marsh, Maine Forest Service, Augusta.

Growing successive crops of wood on Tree Farm offers a bright future. True pointed out, "With our rapidly growing population will come greater demand for the more than 5,000 products made from wood," he said.

Recent additions to Maine's roster of tree farmers are Amos and Lucy Lee, Danforth, 69 acres; Norris A. Waltz, Damariscotta, 100; M. P. & A. J. Weymouth, Ellsworth Falls, 290, and P. H. Chadbourne & Co., Bethel, 9,800.

Authorities Warn of Holiday Highway Hazards

Governor Clinton A. Clauson, Arlyn E. Barnard, Maine Highway Safety Committee chairman, and Col. Robert Marx, State Police Chief, issued a joint statement today, reminding Maine highway users of the exceptional danger of the upcoming holiday weekend.

"Bitter experience has taught us that holiday weekends are unusually costly," said Gov. Clauson. "The most recent—the Memorial Day weekend—claimed six lives on Maine highways."

The Governor also pointed out that six were killed in Maine during last year's 4th of July weekend.

"This is a shocking price to pay for the privilege of motor vehicle travel," he continued. "This is an individual matter demanding the acceptance of responsibility by everyone who drives or walks in traffic. I urge each driver and each pedestrian to recognize the necessity for complete compliance with the law and for strict adherence to the rules of common sense and safety."

Chairman Barnard emphasized the need for individual responsibility and called attention to the fact that each of the fatal crashes during the Memorial Day weekend.

THE BREWING INDUSTRY

The shares of the brewing companies during the nineteen fifties have shown a poor market performance. In the early post-war period the earnings record was respectable but deteriorated because of overcapacity and declining per-capita consumption, with a resultant depressing effect on profit margins. However, the sharp wartime and immediate postwar increase in the birthrate is producing a growing young adult population and there are therefore grounds for the belief that consumption will turn upwards. This segment of the population is usually the largest beer consumer.

The industry is still far from the growth category; but the larger, well-financed concerns can now expect continuing revenue gains and a slow betterment in profit margins.

Production is steadily moving into stronger hands as the small units retire from the field, and this tendency toward concentration should have a favorable effect on pricing policies over the next few years.

The well-established brewing companies thus offer the investor an attractive yield with above average security and the prospects of modest growth in earnings and dividends.

The size of the individual brewery has grown as the number decreased. Large capacity not only brings lower production costs, but the advertising dollar is spread over more barrels with a resulting lower cost per barrel. This is where the large national brewers have a decided advantage over the local operator.

In order to serve the national market the large companies have established branch plants in various sections since the war so that transportation expenses can be

"How could a date have seemed so important?"

When your mind's not on your driving, you're dangerous! Your car can't think. That's your department —the driver's. So think about this. When your mind is on anything else but your driving, anything can happen—including an accident! Last year, nearly 37,000 Americans died on our highways. Many might still be alive if they or others had kept their minds on the road. Driving demands your full attention, so stay alert—and stay alive!

Where traffic laws are strictly enforced, deaths go DOWN!

SOIL CONSERVATION IN OXFORD COUNTY

By Lyman W. Jacobsen
Soil Conservation Service

Many Oxford County farmers are planning soil conservation jobs in near future. Plans are being made for considerable permanent type conservation practices by Oxford County Soil Conservation District co-operators.

Milton Warren of Buckfield will install a diversion ditch to intercept run-off from keeping a valuable hay field wet a good part of the year. Milt plans to use a bulldozer for this job. The ditch will be about 500 feet long. Wendell Dunn and Son, also of Buckfield plan to install tile drainage early in July. This tile line is in one of the orchards and will be a great help in getting around, with the spraying equipment, during wet times. Open drains are out of the question right in an orchard. Tile drainage comes in to its own here.

J. Paul Langevin, gardener and woodland operator on 1200 South Rumford Road will install 670 feet of open drain. This will be a combination open drain and diversion ditch or interception ditch. There are about 83 acres of watershed behind Paul's land and greenhouse. When the water runs off this amount of land, it gives Paul a hard time. The water will be intercepted, kept off his land, carried sideways and dumped into an existing culvert. This work will be done with a back-hoe on tracks.

Stanley Thurston and Son of Norway plan to construct a long waterway as an outlet for water that persists in low places in their field.

John Steele of Dixfield will build an open drain some 1200 feet long, as a main outlet. This will be done with a back-hoe on tracks. Then Steele will build a 1200 - 1500 foot waterway, emptying into the main ditch. This will be a bulldozer job.

All these jobs are water management problems. When completed they will mean greater ease in operating land and better yields of high quality crops or forage.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Morey and three daughters, spent the week end at Aziscoos Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Polvonen and family of Boston visited relatives and friends in town during the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Young and son, John, of New York, are visiting her mother, Mrs. Pearl Welch.

Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Berry and three daughters of Rochester, N. Y., are spending two weeks at Christopher Lake, Brant Pond, and visiting his mother, Mrs. Harry Jacobs and other relatives and friends in town.

Mrs. David Dunham and son, Stephen, are the guests of friends in Waltham, Mass., this week.

MINDWELL'S BANANA BREAD

I am not one for fancy, high-level tea parties. It is an overpowering mental hazard for me to balance a cup of tea flanked with a dinky little spoon, a flossy little sandwich and a tiny cookie.

Furthermore, at the highest level parties where one has to stand for an hour, my feet begin to ache after about 20 minutes. It is a while embarrassing for a 170 pound, husky looking man to latch onto a chair and give his feet a break while elderly women continue on their toasts and apparently enjoy the buzzing chatter. I am in favor of high level parties, but golly how I hope I can locate a chair.

If you are having the girls in for bridge and - or - tea, this banana bread isn't too bad - if you like banana bread. Use two cups of flour, two and a half teaspoons baking powder, one fourth teaspoon soda, one eighth teaspoon allspice, one half teaspoon salt, one third cup melted shortening, two thirds cup plus one tablespoon sugar, two eggs beaten, one cup crushed ripe bananas.

Sift the first five ingredients into bowl and mix.

Cream sugar and shortening. Add beaten eggs and mix with the creamed mixture.

Add shortening-egg mix to the flour. Mix and beat well. Add bananas in three additions beating thoroughly after each addition. Turn into a greased loaf pan. Bake at 350 for about one hour or until done.

HEART OF SUMMER

Four major seasons mark the turning year and each plays its special role. This is the good old summer time and heat broods over the countryside. Dawns are dew-splashed and water pearls glisten in slanting sunlight rays.

Gone is the pulsing urgency of spring growth. This is a quieter time in Year's plan - a period of steady growth while roots reach for the food that means maturity of seed and the continuation of life. During long hours of sunlight, the magic of chlorophyll works in leaves and provides the jelly-like food that returns through tubes in stem and bole to feed every living cell.

Tractors crawl back and forth between rows of growing crops; there is the spicy fragrance of new-mown grasses wafting in the heat. From the woodland comes the querulous calls of young crows experimenting with their voices; song sparrows perch on fence posts and toss songs into the air; phoebes sit on telephone wires above farmyards and call their names. Barn swallows swoop and swirl, gathering food for hungry families in nests plastered against barn rafters.

Through brooding, hot days one can feel the progress of maturing year. There may be a long period of dry, searing weather as farmers watch for signs of seeded rain. Black thunderheads may billow from the horizon, and while the gods hurl tagged, red spears, heavy rain drenches the land.

Nature seems to balance its

TODAY'S meditation

Thursday, July 2

Read II Corinthians 3:12-18
Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me. (Matthew 11:29.)

Man has the right to be free, but taking a yoke upon ourselves does not seem in harmony with the idea of finding liberty. It is strange that by being in bondage to Christ—being a slave of His—we become free men and free women in Him. The Galatians did not make Christ's yoke a means of co-operation and service. They turned it into ceremonial bondage and galling prejudices.

Paul, himself in bondage to Christ, wrote to the Galatians to "stand fast...in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage."

Christ sets us free from the law of sin. When we live with His spirit in control of our hearts and wills, we live in a world above the need of laws. There is no law against the fruits of the Spirit, which Paul lists. These fruits are love, joy, peace, goodness, meekness, faith, and self-control.

Prayer: O Lord, help us to free our minds from prejudice and our hearts from hatred. Teach us to use Thy truth as is made known unto us, and understand Thy love as Christ has revealed it. Set us free from fear and sin, for perfect love casts out fear and wrong. In Jesus' name. Amen.

V. A. NEWS LETTER

A disabled veteran who finds he can't keep his appointment at a Veterans Administration clinic for outpatient treatment should notify the clinic at least 24 hours ahead of time, so VA may schedule another disabled veteran in his place.

That's the advice of Dr. Lorimer M. Schmidt, Chief, Outpatient Service, VA Center, Togus.

Dr. Schmidt said VA clinics are extremely busy, providing nearly 1,000,000 medical treatments annually to eligible veterans for service connected disabilities.

"A broken appointment isn't fair to the other disabled veterans who could have been treated at that time if the veteran had given sufficient advance notice of cancellation," Dr. Schmidt said.

VA has established certain rules to keep broken outpatient appointments to a minimum so the clinics may take care of as many veterans as possible every day.

When a disabled veteran breaks one appointment without a reasonable excuse or advance notice, he is notified by VA that if he breaks another without at least 24 hours' notice or a reasonable excuse, he will be deemed to have refused Government treatment.

He then will receive no further treatment until he has filed a formal application for it and satisfactorily shows a willingness to cooperate by keeping his appointments or by giving at least 24 hours' notice when an appointment must be broken.

"These rules," Dr. Schmidt, "are in operation for the benefit of all eligible veterans who need outpatient treatment for their service connected disabilities. They also assure full use of our clinics, which is an important consideration in view of the large number of veterans eligible for this treatment."

extremes. The basic rule of animal and plant life is that life must go on. Summer is the time of growth. Men who went forth to place seeds in Earth's breast a few weeks ago, live by one of man's basic faiths. For it is written that even as a man sows, so shall he reap; and when it is summer, a man is confident of the harvest.

Gone on Vacation Dog Gone, too

by Carol Lane

Take Fido on your motorings vacation. Hell add to the fun, and you'll save boarding money about $2 a day. For his comfort, and yours, follow these tips:

Take brush, comb, blanket or cushion, two pans, dog food, mixing spoon, knife, can opener, thermos of cool water.

Put small suitcase between driver and dog, teach him to keep on his side.

If you leave him alone, park in shade, have two windows open slightly, do not leash him. (He might strangle).

When you're driving, don't let him stick head out of window. Wind is bad for eyes, ears.

If he gets car sick, check vet for mild sedative.

Make this vacation a family affair... and that includes Fido!
